RAIL EXPRESS CLERKS RAISED

15½ Cent Hourly Increase Granted Effective Last Monday.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 — George Harrison, president of the AFL Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, announced today the railway Express Agency has agreed to a 15½ cents hourly wage increase for 65,000 employes.

The boost, effective as of Sept. 1 is the same increase given earlier this week to approximately 1,000,000 railroad workers under an arbitration award

Harrison said the agreement averts a threatened strike, which had been voted to enforce demands for the wage hike.

It covers members of three unions—the Clerks, International Machinists (independent) and the Brotherhood of Blacksmiths (AFL).

Harrison estimated the increase will amount to $30,600,000 annually and raise the average wage to $1.31½ cents hourly.

The settlement was reached, Harrison said, at a conference with A. M. Hartung, vice president of the Express agency. The national mediation board had called the principals together to discuss the dispute but Harrison said he and Hartung were "able to get together" in advance of the scheduled conference.

RAILROADERS STRIKE AT U.S. STEEL PLANT

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 5 — A strike of 1,800 railroaders employed by the U. S Steel Corp. today brought immediate curtailment of production at the firm's Pittsburgh district plants.

Two unions, representing employes of the subsidiary union railroad, stopped work this morning after a break in contract negotiations. The road connects "Big Steel" plants, employing 35,000, and feeds into major railroad lines.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., biggest U. S. Steel producing subsidiary, banked 10 blast furnaces immediately and an official said seven, and possibly eight, other furnaces would go down during the day. The Clairton coke by-products plant was ordered cut back to 32 per cent of capacity.

The striking engineers, firemen, brakemen and conductors are members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. A union spokesman said a few train crews remained on the job to assist in the orderly shutdown of steel mills — always a slow process.

GAS TAX RESTRICTION TO BE ON BALLOT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5 — A proposed constitutional amendment to restrict use of the liquid fuel tax revenue to street and highway purposes has made the Nov. 4 ballot but ran into opposition from the Ohio Farm Bureau today.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel announced that the required 230,375 signatures had been obtained to petition to place the proposal on the ballot. It would ffect only the one-cent liquid fuel tax, which now goes to the general fund. It produced $15,000,000 last year.

D. R. Stanfield, legislative director for the farm bureau, called the proposal "misleading, not in the public interest, and certainly not in the farmer's interest."

He said the tax was originally enacted "to aid the distressed schools during depression days." When earmarking was abolished under Gov. John W. Bricker, it was placed in the general revenue fund, and the legislature regularly appropriated an approximately equal amount for road purposes.

The staff includes 209 teachers of which 24 are new appointments. Of the 24 four are returning to the system after having been granted leaves. New in the system this year is the school nurse, Miss Inez M. Kraner, R N, who will work on a full time program.

List of teacher assignments appears on Page 4.

Rep. Jones Takes Over New Federal Position

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5—Robert F. Jones of Lima, O., took office today as a member of the federal communications commission.

The oath was administered by his fellow Ohioan, Associate Justice Harold H. Burton of the supreme court at a ceremony attended by Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Burton and some Ohio congressmen.

French Premier Wins Vote of Confidence

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Sept. 5—Premier Paul Ramadier won a vote of confidence today in the national assembly, which also approved the government's program of subsidies for the coal industry by a margin of 50 votes.

The vote was 292 for the motion of confidence, 243 against. It was the fifth vote of confidence Ramadier has received since becoming premier in January.

The Communists and a sprinkling of rightist and centrist deputies formed the opposition to the measure, which authorized the government to grant 4,550,000,000 francs ($38,500,000) in subsidies to hold down prices in the coal industry.

Although the threat of a government crisis was thus eased, labor still was agitating politically against the soaring cost of living.

Consumers Advised To Adjust To Substitutes As Prices Rise

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 5—The nation's principal commodity markets cast lengthening shadows over family household budgets today in a dizzy whirl of rising prices.

With most staple foods at high peak for the year and certain to go still higher, the consumer was advised to adjust to substitutes, such as spaghetti, and to shop around for cheaper cuts of meat.

Only fresh fruits and vegetables were holding at steady prices.

Some observers predicted that unless "consumer resistance" shows up in the market places eggs in New York will soar to $1 a dozen, butter and meat $1 a pound. Such grains as corn and oats sold in futures trading yesterday at new record high prices in the 99-year history of the Chicago board of trade.

"Major Catastrophe"

John Krey, chairman of the American Meat institute, said "a major catastrophe is striking this country and a hungry world because of the drastic reduction in this year's corn production."

In anticipation of further advancing prices for the grain, one Chicago broker reported that wheat producers were withholding some of their 1947 crop from market channels.

The midwestern drouth which sharply curtailed corn crop prospects was an important factor in meat prices but in virtually all other commodity exchanges the trend was sharply upward

Butter was selling at 87 cents a pound retail in New York where Eugene Schulz, city market commissioner, predicted it would climb further because of short supplies

Eggs for delivery in October and butter for delivery in November and January were at record quotations for these particular deliveries in Chicago. October eggs brought 54 65 cents a dozen yesterday, while butter for November delivery was quoted at 73 95 cents a pound and the January delivery at 73 60 cents.

Hog Prices Advance

Hog prices advanced as much as 75 cents a hundredweight to $28.50 at Chicago yesterday.

With continuing reports of corn crop deterioration, the nation's principal feed grain brought a record high of $2.51¾ cents a bushel yesterday for the September delivery, with oats for the same month quoted at a record $1 18¼. Cash corn also was at a record $2.55¾ cents a bushel.

Wheat, at $2.65 a bushel for September delivery, was at a peak for this time of year but well under last winter's high of $3. The record high price of $3 25 was paid in 1917.

Story of Two Days in Wrecked Plane Told by Lone Survivor

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., Sept. 5—The story of a two-day struggle for consciousness and escape amid a swarm of flies while a body lay on top of him was told today by 21-year-old Charles W. Gorman, only survivor of an airplane crash that took three lives Monday in a wooded thicket about six miles northeast of here.

He lay in the wreckage from 8:10 p. m. Monday until about noon Wednesday.

Drowsy from sedatives, the former army bombardier, who was shot down over the Romanian oil fields, said the crash of the Stinson 150 was "nothing like" being shot down. He blamed the accident entirely upon the weather.

A University of Arizona student from Tucson, Ariz., Gorman had been visiting his father, E. J. Gorman of Dayton, before making a Labor day flight to Cleveland for the air races. The crash occurred on the return flight.

Gorman told a reporter:

"We didn't know we were over Kenton.

"The last place we knew where we were was over Marion—isn't

(Picture on Page 11)

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 5—Brunettes and southern belles dominate the honors today in the 1947 competition for the "Miss America" crown.

Not a single blonde or redhead is included among the five winners named in the preliminary tests staged thus far. And four of those five are soft-drawling belles from below the Mason-Dixon line.

Two southern contestants won last night's preliminaries. Miss Kentucky, Louisville's Evelyn L. Murray, was rated tops in the "bathing suit" test, while Miss Memphis, Barbara Jo Walker, walked off with the honors in the talent competition.

They joined the previous night's southern winners, Miss Miami Beach, Pepper Donna Shore, who won that first talent test, and Miss Alabama, Peggy June Elder of Gadsden, who tied for first place in the beauty division with Miss New York City, Raven Malone, lone winner thus far from above the Mason-Dixon line.

Another preliminary competition is scheduled for tonight when the 15 leading contestants will be named to appear in tomorrow's final. The winner then will receive a $5,000 scholarship and assorted contract offers as well as the "Miss America" crown.

RIO PACT CITED AS EXAMPLE

Marshall Says It Shows What Can Be Done When Nations Are Willing.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5—Secretary of State Marshall today held forth the new Inter-American security pact as the outstanding postwar example of how nations can join together to promote world peace.

Marshall who will present the treaty to the United Nations assembly two weeks hence, and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) hailed it in a radio broadcast last night as a pattern for the UN to follow in its quest for world wide security.

Marshall declared the results of the conference at Petropolis, Brazil, in which the treaty was drafted and signed "demonstrated, I think beyond doubt, that where nations are sincerely desirous of promoting the peace and well-being of the world it can be done."

Points To Contrast

He added that "it can be done without frustrating delays and without much of the confusing and disturbing propaganda that has attended our efforts of the past two years."

Vandenberg, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, told his radio listeners he would present the pact to the senate for ratification with "every confidence that it will deserve prompt and enthusiastic approval of its traditionally American ideals."

CIO LEADERS DELAY LABOR LAW DECISION

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 5—Ranking CIO leaders will wait until their Oct. 13 convention at Boston before taking any action to comply with the Taft-Hartley labor law requirement that union officials file non-Communist affidavits prior to Sept. 25.

That flat announcement was contained in a bitterly-worded statement issued by the CIO executive board here yesterday after a conference with CIO-President Philip Murray.

Immediate effect of the union leaders' decision was not determined but Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the NLRB, has indicated that unless affidavits are filed by all the nation's labor leaders before the deadline nearly 15,000,000 workers will be denied use of the NLRB.

Until this announcement both the CIO and the AFL had kept the NLRB in the dark as to whether the government agency could expect to do a rushing business under terms of the Taft-Hartley law or none at all.

TOIL, PATIENCE ARE NEEDED, BRAZIL TOLD

S. American Congress Hears President Admonish Faint-Hearted.

By The United Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 5—President Truman said today the United States is determined to support the United Nations with "all the resources at our command," but warned it will take steadfastness of purpose, unremitting toil and infinite patience to make the UN work.

Mr. Truman, speaking to a joint session of the Brazilian congress, said the nations of the Western Hemisphere have demonstrated to the world that right-thinking men can submerge their "individual prejudices and their individual aims" to an agreement that will bring "great benefit" to the world.

He warned against any "expressions of disappointment" in the work thus far for the fledgling UN world organization.

Mr. Truman also held out the promise to war-devastated nations that neither Brazil nor the United States would forget them in their need.

Spared Home Destruction

He said that although Brazil and the U. S. made great sacrifices during the war both were spared actual homeland destruction.

"I am confident," he said, "that Brazil and the United States will be faithful to a great trust on which depend the lives and liberty of so many millions of disillusioned and discouraged people."

Mr. Truman, addressing the Brazilian conference three days after conclusion of a hemisphere defense pact, said the conference which produced the pact will go down in history as a milestone in world progress toward the outlawing of force in international relations and the establishment of law and order.

"In some quarters today," Mr. Truman said, "one hears expressions of disappointment in the accomplishments thus far of the United Nations. This must not deter us in our constant effort to build the organization that the world needs so badly.

"Furthermore, we must keep ever in mind that the United Nations was not intended to settle the problems arising immediately out of the war but to maintain international peace after just settlements have been made.

"Not Born Complete"

"The United Nations was not born fully developed by the signing of its charter in San Francisco. It will take steadfastness of purpose, unremitting toil and infinite patience to achieve our goal."

The United States, Mr. Truman said is resolved to support the UN with all its resources.

"The difficulties that we have encountered in this early phase in the life of the United Nations have not discouraged us," he said.

Mr. Truman said the long friendship of Brazil and the United States demonstrates to the world how freedom-loving nations can bind their interests through common principles and common ideals.

Both Brazil and the United States, he said, share the same concept of freedom and democracy.

"We look upon the state as the agent of the people for the attainment of the general welfare," Mr. Truman said. "We have the same belief in the fundamental right of man."

Speaking as Brazil prepared to celebrate the 125th anniversary of her independence from Portugal, Mr. Truman said Brazil's cry of independence, in many respects, paralleled that of the United States. He said also that Brazil's history since then in many respects is like that of the United States.

Must Cooperate

Mr. Truman said Brazil and the United States must continue to cooperate with sister nations of the Western Hemisphere in development of a strong force "for the good of mankind."

"One of the great lessons we have learned in recent generations is that we do not dwell alone," Mr. Truman said. "Destruction, confusion and suffering in other parts of the world confront us now as never before.

Mr. Truman said problems of peace that still lie ahead "are more difficult than we could have anticipated."

Mr. Truman said his own legislative background made it especially pleasing to him to address the Brazilian lawmakers.

"The legislature of a democratic country," he said, "is identified with the people themselves. This must be so if the tree of responsible self-government is to blossom fully and bear rich fruit."

U.S. TO SHARE ATOMIC TRACER

International Cancer Program of Research Gets Lift from Commission.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

ST. LOUIS, Sept 5—The United States yesterday started new program of sharing some "tracer" atoms from atomic ovens with foreign countries—a move hailed by scientists as promising quicker conquests over cancer and other disease".

There were also immediate suggestions that the action might serve as a trail-blazer to smooth achievement of international control over the atom bomb and atomic energy.

President Truman announced the decision in a message last night to scientists of 44 nations at the fourth International Cancer Research Congress. He asserted it would "help reduce loss of life and human suffering from diseases throughout the world."

None of the 20 radioactive elements for sale to foreign countries can be applied to developing atomic energy for military or industrial uses, the atomic energy commission said. Sales will not include either plutonium or uranium, or give the slightest clues to any atom bomb secrets. Supplies at the outset will be limited.

Foreign users will be required to report for the benefit of everyone their findings on the tracer researches, to make progress reports semi-annually to the AEC, and to open their laboratories to qualified visiting scientists of any nationality. Foreign governments must see to it that the tracers are used only for the requested purposes.

Dr. C. P. Rhoads, director of Memorial hospital and Sloan-Kettering Institute, New York, instantly commented that "the pattern established by this action, of requiring supervisory inspection and control of the use of the isotopes (tracers), is notable

Should Advance Thought

"It not only removes the studies from the possibilities of exploitation for military purposes, but it should set up, by usage in a common enterprise, familiarity with beneficent, forward-looking control. This should greatly advance international thought and work in the field of atomic energy."

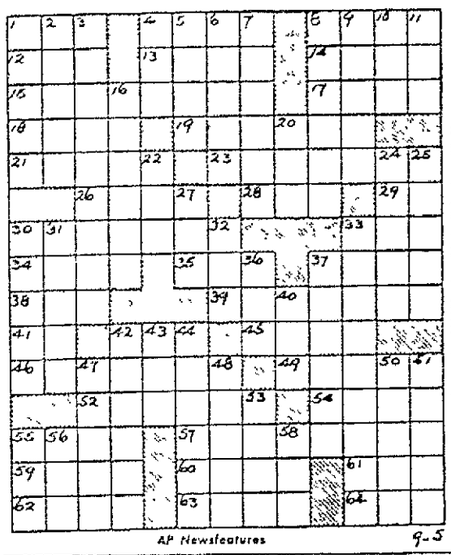

President Truman expressed hope that "the open, impartial and truly international character of medical research will carry over into the realm of other problems of world concern."

At Oak Ridge, Tenn., the AEC said it would begin as soon as possible to fulfill several foreign requests for the radio-isotopes.

It was announced that Russia was among 24 other countries which had inquired about the tracer atoms but that these nations had not filed specific requests so far.

Ear Infection

Where the ears are concerned "hands off" is a good rule

To attempt to get wax out of the ear with the finger-nails, matchsticks or hairpins is a bad practice and one which frequently causes infection, which may be serious, in the external ear canal.

Usually such infection takes the form of boils, called furuncles. Though picking at the ears is the chief cause, there are others. Swimming in contaminated water or pools is one of them. Diabetes is sometimes a contributing cause, as are fatigue and improper diet.

When this infection first develops, there is usually discomfort in the ear, followed by pain.

The pain becomes continuous and is even quite severe. Movement of the external ear and of the jaw seems to make the pain worse. The area around the opening of the ear canal is tender on pressure, and there may also be some swelling of the tissues. The hearing, as a rule, is not affected to any great degree.

The boil may break open by itself and discharge a thick, bloody material. When this happens, the pain, as a rule, is relieved.

In view of the fact that symptoms produced by a boil in the external ear canal are much like those of middle-ear infection, it is important that the ear be carefully examined to tell which of these disorders is present.

An examination of the ear drum should be carried out since, if there is an infection in the middle ear, the ear drum will be reddened, while it is not changed by infection in the outer ear canal.

Treatment of the ear canal infection consists of cleansing the area, perhaps with a piece of gauze dipped in alcohol. Then a piece of gauze which has been dipped into such things as glycerin or magnesium sulphate, may be inserted as far into the ear as possible. This is left in place for twenty-four hours and then removed.

This treatment may help to reduce the swelling and pain. At the end of twenty-four hours, the gauze is removed, the ear cleaned and another piece of gauze put in.

The furuncle may break open of itself, as mentioned before and then all that is necessary is to keep the ear canal clean. In some few cases, it may be necessary for the physician to cut open the infected area.

Once such infection occurs, it tends to act like a bad penny and show up again, particularly in people who are in a run-down condition. In some instances instead of one boil, there will be many. To get rid of this severe infection it may be necessary to give penicillin by injection into a muscle.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Reader: What is myocarditis? Can it be cured?

Answer: Myocarditis means inflammation of the heart muscle. It usually is a chronic disorder resulting from a disturbance of the circulation or from some infection. The condition may be controlled but there is no means of repairing the damage already done to the heart.

Marionites Attend Veterans' Reunion

Veterans from Marion and nearby cities have returned from Cincinnati where they attended the twenty-third annual reunion of the 309th Engineers association and auxiliary which closed Saturday. A Galion veteran, George Stoner, was elected secretary-treasurer, and Lowell Ringer of Bucyrus was named color sergeant. Dayton was selected for the 1948 convention city and Michigan City, Ind., as the host city for the 1949 reunion. The 309th Engineer regiment served in France during World War I.

Charles S. Dold of Cincinnati, retiring president, presided for the two-day meeting held at Hotel Gibson. Mrs. Lowell L. Ringer of Bucyrus, retiring president of the auxiliary, was in charge of the organization's business session.

John R. Cost of Dayton was elected president of the association and Mrs. J. L. Shughrou of Morgantown, W. Va., was chosen to head the women's auxiliary. A highlight of the reunion was a banquet at Hotel Gibson at which Carl W. Rich, mayor of Cincinnati, extended greetings and gave the principal address. The banquet was attended by 240 members and guests.

John Rampke of Blue Island, Ill., was elected vice president, Merril Dennis of Mingo Junction, O., chaplain and Charles Crawford of Gary, Ind., sergeant-at-arms. Elected with Mrs. Shughrou were Mrs. Waldemar J. Koch of Steger, Ill., vice president, and Mrs. Carl Braustek of Toledo, secretary-treasurer.

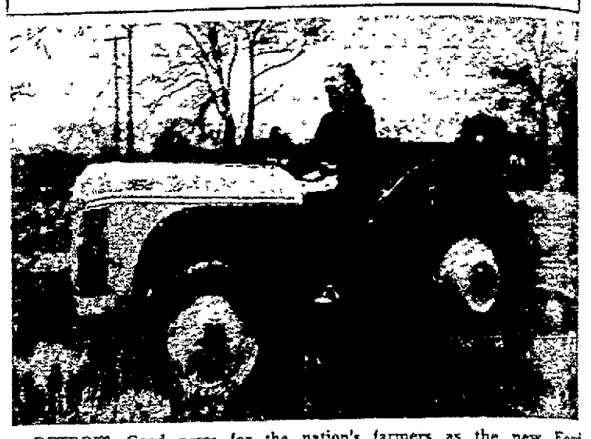

Fourteen Marion veterans are members of the association. Maynard M. Lippincott of this city, a member of the regiment, died in France, the records show.

Marion veterans were hosts for the 1939 convention and at that time John V. Ruth of Marion was president of the organization and Mrs. George Stoner of Galion headed the women's auxiliary.

Mr. Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Ringer of Bucyrus and Mr. and Mrs. George Stoner of Galion attended the Cincinnati meeting.

LIDAY ENDS R BRITONS

Travel Ban, English an No Longer Go to Continent.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 5—The British government's ban on pleasure travel outside the sterling area which means the holiday is denied to millions of Britons who had overcrowded vacation resorts in mind to take their fun on the Swiss Alps, France, Italy and elsewhere on the continent, was announced by the announcement of travel restrictions, imposed to save foreign credits, shipping companies, air lines and travel agencies said it was too early to assess the full effects of the order.

"We are hoping for the best," said a spokesman for one of the world's major shipping companies.

"Going To Hurt"

"It's going to hurt" admitted a representative of one of United States air lines flying regular Trans-Atlantic services. There was no indication if and when the currently overtaxed services, both ship and plane, would be curtailed.

Holiday travel to the continent this year approached an all-time record with most of the travelers going to Switzerland, and others visiting France, Italy, Holland and Belgium.

U. K. citizens who planned their foreign travel for September are not affected by the ban, but it means cancellation of heavy bookings for the winter sports in Switzerland, starting in November.

One of the first results will be to lighten the strain on trans-Atlantic services, both by air and sea.

"The British demand for passage to the United States," a spokesman for one travel agency said, "was more than we could cope with."

About 50 per cent of the passengers in the United States Lines passenger liner, American, were estimated to be British citizens. The ship, tied up in New York last month by a now-settled longshoremen's strike, averages a round trip about once a month.

Refuses To Speculate

Cunard White Star, which carries about 20,000 passengers per month in its Atlantic service, refused to speculate on the effects of the restrictions. The line, one of Britain's chief dollar earners, estimated that considerably more than 50 per cent of its passengers are U. S. citizens.

Three of the most popular holiday areas in the British Isles—Eire, the Channel islands and the Isle of Man—are not affected by the ban. A spokesman for Thomas Cook and Son said next season's rush for these islands would be "terrific."

A spokesman for the ministry of civil aviation, government agency in charge of Britain's civil air lines, said that some of its services, particularly BEAC which flies mostly to the continent, would be affected by the drop in travel caused by the ban.

Under the new regulations only four classes of foreign travel will be permitted:

For necessary business purposes, for professional reasons, health cases and for educational reasons.

County Golf Tourney To Draw Record Roster of Contestants

The winner of the first flight of play will be given the title of Marion county golf champion for the 1947 season. Possession of the rotating trophy, sponsored by The Marion Star, for the coming year, also accompanies the distinction.

The present trophy was started in 1942 after Johnny Rife retired the other by winning it three times. No golfer has had his name on the one now being offered more than once. Bob Owens won in 1942, Don Preuninger in 1943, Suel Drown in 1944, John Isaly in 1945, and Johnny Rife last year.

Developing Crisis in Europe Called Grounds for Anxiety

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Ground for anxiety—though not surprising—is American Undersecretary of State Lovett's report in Washington that Europe's economic crisis is developing much faster than expected and that the United States may have to take some kind of emergency action before the end of the year.

DewittMackenzie

Representative Hays, Arkansas Democrat, just back from a European tour, pinned the thing down more closely. He told reporters that in all probability it will be necessary for congress to meet before January, "assuming that the Marshall plan will take shape by that time and that we will have something definite and substantial to work on."

Lovett attributes the speedy deterioration of the situation to two main causes: (1) the effects of the British economic crisis have been very contageous, (2) many countries have had to divert their resources from production to such non-productive purchases as foodstuffs. In this connection their troubles have been added to by such afflictions as floods and droughts. There also has been mismanagement.

Like Bad Apple

It is true that one bad apple in the bin passes on its decay to others. It also is true that nature has played sorry pranks on the stricken continent. The grain crops in virtually all countries except Russia have been reduced by drought. The Soviet Union has been favored by weather and has done well.

The over-all picture is a grim one. The three main supports of the prewar European structure—Britain, France and Germany—are badly crippled. The smaller states, who used to depend so heavily on the patronage of the now wounded giants, are struggling along on their own, but there has been little or no coordination of effort among them. Each has been intent on hoeing its own row.

One of the most dangerous aspects of the situation has been the continued impotence of Germany, due to the inability of the Big Four to reach an agreement which would permit of a peace treaty and economic recovery. Russia's refusal to cooperate in the American-British economic program has kept the Reich the center of the continental whirlpool.

And what is all this to us of the new world? Well, quite apart from humanitarian aspects, there are two reasons why the United States has seen fit to intervene and try to help Europe to its feet:

▶Economic experts assure us that a continuation of the crisis must inevitably precipitate an economic depression in the Western Hemisphere. Just as our frontiers militarily speaking are in Europe, so are our economic frontiers.

▶The crisis is a breeder of war This is true because distress and weakness are rendering many unhappy countries susceptible to conquest by aggressive communism. The longer the crisis lasts, the better the chances are for the Red ism to spread. The more it spreads, the greater the danger of global war

These reasons of course were responsible for the Marshall plan, and they explain the present grave view of the quickening of the crisis.

Geologically, Australia is thought to be the oldest of the continents, being the most level in surface and the most regular in outline.

Fat Ladies, Airplanes, Bananas Don't Mix, Newsman Discovers

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5—I don't suppose there is any worse experience than sitting next to a fat lady in a four-motored airplane while she eats bananas and neatly stuffs the skins into the seat pocket with the time tables and the free sun goggles.

The deluxier the plane, apparently, the more the lady oozes over the side of her seat and onto the patsy at her left. I know what I'm talking about; I'm writing these lines with one arm stiff (from the lady leaning on it) and a permanent distaste (induced by her) for bananas.

I hate to say it, airlines, but in my travels lately as a cash customer over assorted routes—some of which charged extra fares for special service—I was reminded of excursion rate riding on a day coach of the Yazoo and Eastern.

Only Cinders Missing

Squawling babies, crumpled papers, ladies lurching to the rear of the coach for a drink of water, snorers, playful brats and cramped seats all were present at 8,500 feet altitude. Only the cinders were missing.

My principal complaint, fellows, concerns the way you ripped out the roomy chairs in some of your Constellations and DC-4's and jammed up to 59 narrow perches into airplanes originally intended to hold some 15 fewer passengers. A customer gets a more comfortable ride on the local bus to Takoma park.

These planes used to carry two rows of double seats with an aisle in the middle as in a street car. Then some master mind cut the width of each seat, squeezed the aisle so tight the thinnest stewardess has to walk crabwise, and put five passengers abreast instead of four.

Customer Is Peeved

Six or seven hours in the center pew between the hungry fat lady and a sleepy gent whose feet kept tangling in mine is enough to make a customer peeved. And even cause him to write an essay like this.

The Washington agents of the lines whose aerial day coaches I rode were inclined to smile at my complaints. They said only some of their ships were jammed with so many chairs. Claimed they did the jamming not because of greed, but to take care of the crowds. Maybe I played in hard luck, but every four-motored plane I rode had chairs suitable only for Hollywood's Thin Man.

Babies aloft are something else. Each plane I patronized carried its quota of infants. I have nothing against babies as such, but when their ears begin to hurt, they don't know about yawning to equalize the pressure on their ear-drums. So they cry and they keep on crying. This is pitiful. It also is hard on the nerves.

Can't Ban Babies

An airline can't ban babies like it does dogs, I know. But I understand one outfit flying between Los Angeles and San Francisco has installed sound-proof nurseries for air-borne babies. That is the airline for me.

Otherwise I have no suggestions. The firms which whisked me to New Orleans, Meridda, Guatemala City, Memphis, St. Louis and back home did so with the greatest of care. They never scared me once. They came close to no mountains; skirted every storm. The sidling stewardesses were polite, too. They begged my pardon every time they knocked my elbow off the arm of my too-tight seat. This happened frequently because they were busy shagging warm milk to the babies. This refreshment did no good. The yowling never stopped.

MISS DOROTHY BUCK

New 'Betty Newton' Takes Position Here

Miss Dorothy Buck, home economics graduate of Bowling Green State university, has been named as a new "Betty Newton" in home service work for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and will serve in Marion and surrounding territory, it was announced today by C. E. Sechrist, local manager.

Miss Buck, whose home is at Wellington, O., is one of 32 women now employed by the Gas Co. in home service. Each of them is known professionally as "Betty Newton."

The new "Betty Newton" is available to speak before women's clubs, P.-T.A. and church groups and other organizations and also will cooperate with the home economics teachers in the schools, help church women and others plan menus for large groups, and be of other service in the community.

Many women will be interested at this particular time in hearing Miss Buck's newest methods of food preservation—canning, freezing, or drying of foods.

Miss Buck, as "Betty Newton," has her headquarters at the Gas Co. office.

BEVIN'S GOLD PLANS BACKED BY BRITISH

LONDON, Sept. 5 — An authoritative American source said yesterday that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's proposal for redistribution of the Fort Knox gold was, in the British view, to be an integral part of the Marshall plan for aiding European economic recovery.

The informant said Bevin had made the suggestion informally in an exchange with U. S. Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas before announcing it publicly yesterday at the Trade Union Congress in Southport.

In the course of a 70-minute talk today with American congressmen who are investigating economic conditions in Britain and western Europe the foreign secretary gave several more details of his proposal, this source added.

Bevin's elucidation of his proposal for redistributing U. S. gold stocks came in answer to a question from one of the congressmen and the informant said the foreign secretary made these points:

His proposal had the backing of the British government.

He believed it was unhealthy and unsound economics, out of harmony with the principles of multilateral trade which the United States herself was urging, for one country to hold most of the world's gold stocks and not use them.

There would be no lasting settlement of Europe's economic difficulties if continental recovery was to depend on never-ending U. S. loans.

Gold could become the basis of world currency systems and every nation should have access to it.

The informant said Bevin's elucidation of his proposal was received "somewhat skeptically" by the U. S. congressmen. A member of the delegation said "it just doesn't make sense."

U.S. FILES NEW SUIT AGAINST RAILROADS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5—In a new multi-million dollar action, the government yesterday filed with the interstate commerce commission a claim against the nation's railroad for alleged overcharges on wartime shipments of explosives and ammunition.

The government's complaint, filed by the justice department, does not give any specific figure which the government seeks to recover from 717 railroad companies, but officials estimated that between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 is involved.

The petition to ICC for investigation and a reparations order (for repayment of overcharges) is the eighth in a series of complaints which the justice department has made concerning the wartime freight charges by railroads.

Altogether, hundreds of millions of dollars are involved.

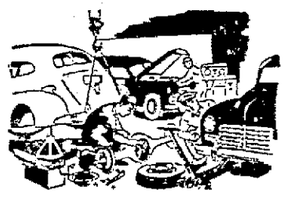

The previous complaints alleged overcharges on interior storage of military equipment awaiting shipment overseas, on the hauling of steel and aluminum airplane landing mats, and other items.

The complaint concerning charges for explosives and ammunition movements contends that "the magnitude of the shipments of explosives and the successful safety measures placed in effect by the armed services, and other favorable transportation characteristics, entitled the government to rates much lower than those imposed by the railroads."

Attorney General Clark asserted in a statement that repeated efforts were made by the armed services during the war to obtain more favorable rate, and that the railroads refused to make a lower rate.

The Doctor's Coming

ALL previous promises that no special session of congress would be called this year are now going to be eaten. The first bite has been taken by Undersecretary of State Lovett.

The undersecretary, bracing the public for a special session in the not-too-distant future, says things are going from bad to worse in Europe much more rapidly than expected.

Most insiders and outsiders who like to think they're insiders have predicted confidently that both these things would happen; i.e., that things would go from bad to worse more rapidly than expected and that congress would be called into special session.

The effect of saying no special session would be called, as far as Europe was concerned, was the same as telling a patient his doctor was out of town and wouldn't return until next year. It took from Europeans the only thing they had left—the hope that the United States would gallop up with the money to pay off the mortgage in the big scene where Joe Stalin closes in to take possession of the old homestead.

The hope is now restored. Whether or not a special session materializes is relatively unimportant. Until the Europeans made more progress with their responsibilities under the Marshall plan, congress probably couldn't do any more in session than it is doing where it is—scattered to the ends of the earth.

Speaking of Sense

SNAP American judgment on Ernest Bevin's tactless blurt about turning over some of the Fort Knox gold hoard to his government is that the British foreign minister's proposal doesn't make sense.

Granted that it doesn't, the Fort Knox gold hoard never made sense, either. It is a left-handed child of international financial expediency, and no American politician or economist ever pointed to it with pride.

It represents the embarassing byproduct of a catch-as-catch-can policy of buying up the world's gold with United States dollars so dollars could be put into circulation and the gold piled up in a hole. The result has been to give the United States a virtual monopoly on the world's supply of monetary gold, at the expense of a gold standard for the world's monetary systems. William Jennings Bryan finally had his way.

Bevin was stupid to talk about it in a manner that only can inflame the feelings of Anglophobes, but aside from that he was passing only the judgment of most economists and bankers. They, too, believe that one of the most feather-brained antics of the fun-with-money crowd that infested Washington during the new Dealusion was to turn Uncle Sam into King Midas.

The worst that can be said about Bevin is that he blurted the truth out when we were expecting soft soap.

Workman, Save Thyself

A WILDCAT strike in Britain's South Yorkshire coal field illustrates a fundamental weakness in unionism—failure of its adherents to understand there are more important things to do with collective action than cut their own throats.

A mine strike in Britain at this time, when the Labor party's government is already seriously embarrassed, amounts to a betrayal of the Attlee regime. If a British laboring man can't be depended on to support his own government, who can?

All this has been pointed out many times in Britain. The Labor government tried to substitute cooperation for coercion as a workman's motive for performing a good day's work. In desperation, it was demanded and received authority to set up a form of dictatorship, to take the place of the discipline that labor itself seems unable to muster.

It boils down to this: that British labor must save itself to save Britain, yet has been unable to understand so far that this is true, just as in the United States men who speak for labor make it appear that everybody else is to blame for labor's grievances and the only solution is to intensify class warfare. That may be grade-A malarkey for social revolution but has nothing to do with the main proposition, which is how to give labor a better break by helping it to help itself.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Belief Grows Another War Inevitable.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5—Two top international leaders in this country (whose names you know and respect) have become quite ouilish on the state of the world lately. One predicts war within a year. He does not think we will wait for another Pearl Harbor this time, but fears Russian plans for world revolution will be carried so far against us, we will be compelled to strike first in self defense.

Neither of these men is directly connected with the government, and neither is saying what inside information he has. Their views are apparently founded, however, on some information which has reached certain well-informed congressmen, namely this:

The progress toward a peaceful understanding with the world for development of atomic energy, and controlling it in the interests of peace, have hit insoluble Russian objections. A breakdown in this effort toward peace may be encountered this month. At least official authorities have been saying it would come during September.

If these negotiations fail and fail completely, a certain senator says there will be nothing for the United States to do except to prepare for war.

Cause of Situation

This situation, of course, lies behind the thwarting by Russia of results from the United Nations atomic energy commission. It shows how little hope is held in high quarters for the one ray of light which Russia offered through Deputy Foreign Minister Gromyko in his Aug. 29 declaration at Lake Success indicating Russia might accept some new idea for quotas on production. The commission was scheduled to make its report Sept. 15, but being unable to get approval from Russia for its six working papers, showing its finding of facts (although these were approved by a majority of the commission) many members have felt it useless to try to make any report within the time limit set. If none is made, and no ground is laid for future negotiations, then by Sept. 15 the atomic control plan can be said to have broken down.

Direct or trustworthy information as to whether Russia has the atom bomb is not available. Some of the experts in foreign affairs who have been publicly fearing she might obtain it, say she undoubtedly has the formula or the secret fairly worked out by now, but there is a serious question whether she has the know-how to produce the bomb. Her production methods are notoriously inefficient. Some authorities doubt that she will be able to do much in any production line due to her system. In a general way, fears among our experts seem to have abated.

Russia's Weakness

For these and other reasons, our authorities are commonly suggesting Russia is weak. She may be weak from a military and economic standpoint. But she has been far from weak from a political standpoint, and her diplomatic position which has enabled her to veto world peace plans and atomic control, can hardly be considered weak.

More than 2,000 American passports for Russia are said to be outstanding. From more than one American who has visited Russia lately to see what the Kremlin restrictedly wishes a visitor to see, has come the suggestion that economically Russia could not pursue a war of any duration. Her production is bad. From the military standpoint, no doubt she could seize certain Turkish territories and perhaps even Greece without great trouble; indeed, she might even try to seize the whole of Europe, although her ability for military action to the eastern rim of the Atlantic ocean, can be gravely doubted.

One peaceful chance of solution of this problem has not been mentioned much in the discussions behind the scenes. If Russia is as inefficient as she has shown herself to be, her destiny will be downward. She developed only one good gun and one good plane during the war. Ruthless sacrifice of manpower won the war for her. Only in politics is she strong. Therefore if an aggressive resistance is maintained to her by the world, and she is allowed to work out her downward destiny in accordance with her lack of ability—then peace could come without another war.

This happens to be exactly what this government is now doing; maintaining aggressive political diplomacy, and letting her work out her downward destiny.

The Better the Stuffing?

More than a million fraudulent votes were reported cast in this week's Hungarian election.

And some had thought a dinosaur a tremendous job of taxidermy.

A million stolen votes, that's unusual even for Hungary, where election frauds traditionally come in the large, economy size.

Still, apparently nothing is to be done about it, the winners having been congratulated and the losers liquidated.

We Americans pride ourselves on our penchant for mass production, but we've never approached anything like this not even in Jersey City.

Incidentally, if you think the vote-stealing was bad, just consider how widespread it might have been had the election not been held on Sunday.

Economic Storms Ahead

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5—The Council of Economic Advisers, established last year to peer into the economic future and warn of storms ahead, will send a report to President Truman on Oct. 1. It is unlikely that the report will be published. But it is disturbing to learn that the cautious optimism which characterized previous reports will be replaced by grave warning of trouble to come.

Indeed, the report will be studded with a series of bright red danger signals. Moreover, according to the council's stable of economists, these danger signals no longer point to a moderately painful recession, a disagreeable but necessary letdown. They point to a full-scale, aged-in-the-wood, 1932-pattern depression some time in the next one to four years.

The report is expected to point out that the probability of such an economic catastrophe is being brought on by a peculiar vicious circle. Moreover, there is considerable sentiment among the council's economists that this circle can only be broken by the reimposition of price controls in certain basic sectors of the economy. Thus there is some chance that the report may recommend imposing such price controls, politically fatuous as such a recommendation would be.

The Vicious Circle

The vicious circle, according to the economists, is simply that fear of a depression by industrial management is bringing on a depression. They point to the steel industry as the best example of this curious tendency. Led by its chairman, Dr. Edwin Nourse, by no means a radical economist, the council virtually went down on its knees to the steel magnates in an attempt to persuade them not to raise steel prices after the recent coal and steel wage rises. E. M. Voorhees, chief of the finance committee of United States Steel, acted as the industry's spokesman. He frankly agreed with the council's economists that the steel industry could quite easily absorb the wage rises, and continue to make a handsome profit. But, he asserted, this was only true so long as the industry continued to operate at 90 per cent of current output. And, he added, steel must count on operating in the future at 50 per cent of capacity, or even lower. In other words, the industry must count on an exceedingly severe depression.

Voorhees also agreed with the economists that steel was in desperately short supply both at home and abroad. He acknowledged that current profits were extraordinary—judging from the first quarter of this year, steel profits after taxes may reach the staggering total of half a billion dollars. But no important part of these profits, Voorhees argued, could be plowed back into expansion—and for precisely the same reason that the price line could not be held. Come the depression, expanded capacity would be a white elephant. Against this depression, a protective layer of unspent profits must be built up.

Others Take Same View

In presenting such arguments, Voorhees has been by no means alone. Other industrialists, such as Rufus Tucker, chief economist of General Motors, have responded in almost precisely the same way to the almost tearful pleas of the Council of Economic Advisers to keep prices down and expansion up.

Nourse and his colleagues are almost unanimously convinced that such industrials, by predicating their policies on the certainty of a depression, are making that depression virtually inevitable. Their reasoning is not difficult to understand. There is nothing wrong with high profits, the economists argue, so long as these profits are plowed back into very large scale industrial expansion. Only thus will the national economy continue to hum. But, say the economists, when these huge sums are turned instead into dead money, shoved, as it were, under the mattress, they represent a constant drain on the national purchasing power. The result, the economists believe, will be that sooner or later the ability of the nation to buy will fall behind its ability to produce. That is the way depressions have always started in the past. Thus the vicious circle.

Economists have certainly been wrong in the past. Moreover, it is the function of an industrial manager to protect the interests of his stockholders, and in the past depression has always followed prosperity. Yet one point needs to be made: a point which has already been fully grasped by such forward-looking business men as the sponsors of the Committee on Economic Development.

Effect of Next Depression

For it takes no more than an ounce of political imagination to understand that the American political and economic system will hardly survive the onslaught of another severe depression. Thus, curiously, the industrialists who are planning on a depression are also planning on the probability, if not the certainty, of the destruction of the sysem which they have most reason to protect.

Nor is that all. Those industrialists who are predicating their policies on the expectation of an American depression are joined, oddly enough, by the rulers in the Kremlin. When during the war Josef Stalin told Eric Johnston, "You will have a terrific depression," he was expressing not only a conviction, but also a hope. Some American business men appear to think that their businesses can happily ride out the bad years on the accumulated fat of the present boom. It is exceedingly unlikely that the strategists in the Politburo will fall in with these plans.

"The Cold War" with Russia

By WALTER LIPPMANN

MR. X concludes his article on Soviet conduct and American policy by saying that "the thoughtful observer of Russian-American relations will . . . experience a certain gratitude to a Providence which, by providing the American people with this implacable challenge, has made their entire security as a nation dependent upon their pulling themselves together and accepting the responsibilities of moral and political leadership that history plainly intended them to bear." Perhaps. It may be that Mr. X has read the mind of Providence and that he knows what history plainly intended. But it is asking a good deal that the American people should stake their "entire security as a nation" upon a theory which, as he himself says, cannot be proved and cannot be disproved.

Surely it is by no means proved that the way to lead mankind is to spend the next ten or fifteen years, as Mr. X proposes we should, in reacting at "a series of constantly shifting geographical and political points, corresponding to the shifts and maneuvers of Soviet policy." For if history has indeed intended us to bear the responsibility of leadership, then it is not leadership to adapt ourselves to the shifts and maneuvers of Soviet policy at a series of constantly shifting geographical and political points. For that would mean for ten or fifteen years Moscow, not Washington, would define the issues, would select the ground where the conflict was to be waged, and would choose the weapons. And the best that Mr. X can say for his own proposal is that if for a long period of time we can prevent the Soviet power from winning, the Soviet power will eventually perish or "mellow" because it has been "frustrated."

Mr. X "Bogged Down"

This is a dismal conclusion. Mr. X has, I believe, become bogged down in it because as he thought more and more about the conduct of the Soviet, he remembered less and less about the conduct of the other nations of the world. For while it may be true that the Soviet power would perish of frustration, if it were contained for ten or fifteen years, this conclusion is only half-baked until he had answered the crucial question which remains: Can the Western World operate a policy of containment? Mr. X not only does not answer this question. He begs it, saying that it will be very discouraging to the Soviets if the Western World finds the strength and resourcefulness to contain the Soviet power over a period of ten or fifteen years.

Now the strength of the Western World is great, and we may assume that its resourcefulness is considerable. Nevertheless, there are weighty reasons for thinking that the kind of strength we have and the kind of resourcefulness we are capable of showing are peculiarly unsuited to operating a policy of containment.

How, for example, under the Constitution of the United States is Mr. X going to work out an arrangement by which the Department of State has the money and the military power always available in sufficient amounts to apply "counterforce" at constantly shifting points all over the world? Is he going to ask Congress for a blank check on the Treasury and for a blank authorization to use the armed forces? Not if the American constitutional system is to be maintained. Or is he going to ask for an appropriation and for authority each time the Russians "show" signs of encroaching upon the interests of a peaceful and stable world"? If that is his plan for dealing with the maneuvers of a dictatorship, he is going to arrive at the points of encroachment with too little and he is going to arrive too late. The Russians, if they intend to encroach, will have encroached while Congress is getting ready to hold hearings.

Not Our Style

A policy of shifts and maneuvers may be suited to the Soviet system of government, which, as Mr. X tells us, is animated by patient persistence. It is not suited to the American system of government.

It is even more unsuited to the American economy, which is unregimented and uncontrolled, and therefore cannot be administered according to a plan. Yet a policy of containment cannot be operated unless the Department of State can plan and direct exports and imports. For the policy demands that American goods be delivered or withheld at "constantly shifting geographical and political points corresponding to the shifts and maneuvers of Soviet policy."

Thus Mr. X and the planners of policy in the State Department, and not supply and demand in the world market, must determine continually what portion of the commodities produced here may be sold in the United States, what portion is to be set aside for export, and then sold, lent, or given to this foreign country rather than to that one. The Department of State must be able to allocate the products of American industry and agriculture, to ration the goods allocated for export among the nations which are to contain the Soviet Union, and to discriminate among them, judging correctly and quickly how much each nation must be given, how much each nation can safely be squeezed, so that all shall be held in line to hold the line against the Russians.

Evidence of Error

If then the Kremlin's challenge to American society is to be met by the policy which Mr. X proposes, we are committed to a contest, for ten or fifteen years, with the Soviet system which is planned and directed from Moscow. Mr. X is surely mistaken, it seems to me, if he thinks that a free and undirected economy like our own can be used by the diplomatic planners to wage a diplomatic war against a planned economy at a series of constantly shifting geographical and political points. He is proposing to meet the Soviet challenge on the ground which is most favorable to the Soviets, and with the very instruments, procedures, and weapons in which they have a manifest superiority.

Daily Bible Thought

If you can't avoid misunderstandings at least be patient and charitable: "It is an honor for a man to keep aloof from strife, but every fool will be quarreling."—Prov. 20:3.

The Once Over

Elmer Twitchell on Plastered Bait

Elmer Twitchell was intrigued recently by the fishing exploits of a man who dipped worms in benzedrine thus enlivening them so much that, once overboard, the gyrations, flops and wriggalings were ones that no fish could ignore, unless blind, senile or in carrying probation officer Dr. George L. Apicius, who is the director of "Operation Underwater Zip," and he insists he got more fish on a soaked worm than he ever did in his life.

* * *

But Mr. Twitchell declares himself the real pioneer in angling with plastered bait. "I used benzedrine-soaked worms years ago," he declared. "It's only fair. It don't compare with bait dipped in rye, scotch or gin. Vintage champagne beats 'em all, fresh or salt water.

* * *

"I once got hold of some good bourbon and caught me some whoppers. I'll never forget the time I dipped a bloodworm into a jug of it and then cast it out for striped bass. This worm was sluggish and disinterested before I dipped it. But one quick dip and it was a real fish killer. The first time I threw it over there was a terrific underwater commotion and up came six big bass with blackeyes and bloody noses.

* * *

"They were so groggy they gave themselves up."

* * *

Elmer paused and tried his aim on a cuspidor 12 feet across his trophy room, hung with fish mounted specimens of his catches in the waters of the world and several mounted jugs of stewed bait.

* * *

"Back in prohibition days I soaked a shoestring crab in bathtub gin once, put it on the line and almost as soon as it hit the water an enormous man-eating shark went for it. Well, what that little gin-conditioned crab did to the shark was a caution. It weakened it by its footwork at first and then closed both of the shark's eyes, using only the claws on its starboard side and driving 'em home like two hammers. The shark was pretty helpless and mighty infuriated. I reeled in, gave the crab another dip in the bathtub gin and sent it out fighting for round two. Oh, man!

* * *

"That crab shoved a portside claw into the shark's mouth and ripped out both rows of teeth.

* * *

"Well sir, the shark knew when it was licked. It was its first experience with Lost Weekend or Alcoholics Anonymous bait, and it just rose up on the shore and surrendered.

* * *

"Another time back in the early '30s I tried speakeasy scotch as a lure. Boy, that stuff was it. I didn't even use bait. Just dipped the hook into it for three seconds and dropped it over. It took a 350-pound tuna, and by the time I hauled it in—only a matter of seconds—the tuna was stone dead!

* * *

"But I still prefer a good champagne. It has more finesse, more class. The last time I tried this I didn't dip the bait in it, I dipped myself. Never had so much fun. Darned if I didn't fall overboard in 30 fathoms of water. When I came up I came up with a swordfish, arm in arm and both singing. It had turned over its sword to me. That started a friendship that lasted for years with that fish. Take along a case of champagne when you go angling, Mister, that's fishing!" concluded Mr. Twitchell.

Pursuit of Happiness

By TRUMAN TWILL

Never underestimate the power of a human being in pursuit of happiness. He will knock you down and walk over your prostrate form in cleats to eat bad food in wayside joints on his way to some remote point where ruthless characters will clip him until he bleeds—if he thinks he is pursuing happiness.

He will entangle himself in howling, savage mobs of human beings milling about with elbows jabbing and feet bearing down on tender insteps and will take the beating of his life—if he can be persuaded that happiness will be found along the way.

He will sit in a teetery little boat for endless hours under the broiling-down sun or the beating-down rain and curse the evil luck that keeps him from catching fish—but first he must be convinced that the path to happiness lies straight before him.

He will mope at home on his day off, pound his thumb with a hammer, agitate a spade, swing a paint brush, push a lawn mower and do work for nothing that men get paid $2 an hour for doing—if someone can create the illusion that he is about to achieve happiness.

He will go long distances to sit sullenly on the ground, or at best a splintery plank, clawing at cold food like a famine victim, masticating ants, gnats, mites and bits of wood if someone first has made him think that a short-cut to happiness is via a good old-fashioned picnic.

He will voluntarily move himself backward to an era before the Vikings and tug and haul on ropes, weaken himself with undue exposure to the elements and be in danger of drowning if the idea has taken root in his imagination that sailors have found the highways to happiness.

He will go on a vacation, live in quarters unfit for a horse, eat food that a pig would turn down, let himself be treated like a dog, despised like a skunk and fleeced like a lamb—provided that the experience is called a vacation, because in America it is a legend that on vacations human beings become supremely happy.

He will pay good money to be tossed and jerked by amusement devices until the fillings in his teeth rattle; he will submit himself without protest to the horseplay of fun houses; he will crouch for hours on a strip of hot sand at the water's edge; turn over his hard-earned money to gyp artists; march in parades and watch others march in parades; and let himself become a target for custard and berry pies—if someone first has told him this is the true secret of real happiness.

Sometime before the poor fellow knocks himself out in the pursuit of happiness someone should tell him it's like the mechanical rabbit at the dog track—you don't catch it. You just pursue it.

Kapok is the seed hair of the Bombax tree which is native to Java, the Philippines, the Malay States, Celon, the West Indies and tropical America.

CLUB TOLD OF DRIVE AGAINST LEUKEMIA

Foundation Head Heard by Women's Group.

The program of a research foundation to discover means of combating a "killer" disease, leukemia, was presented Wednesday night at a dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at Hotel Harding.

Presentation of the subject was by Arthur Krumholtz of Springfield, father of the child for whom the organization, the Jackie Krumholtz foundation, was named. The disease took the life of the small son in August, 1944.

Miss Betty Leib, chairman of the health committee, was in charge of the program.

A dramatic recording, personification of "Leukemia" as a criminal killer in "his" role in an actual death from the disease, was played, then Mr. Krumholtz explained further the purpose of the foundation and answered questions of the group.

By statistics it was shown that the disease is not a "rare ailment as has been thought generally and that as yet no cure has been found. It was stated that leukemia kills "as many people annually as typhoid fever scarlet fever meningitis, diphtheria, malaria and measles combined. It claims ten times as many lives as infantile paralysis. It is no respecter of age or previous well-being."

Symptoms of the disease were described and the nature of the foundation as a "non-profit organization to establish fund or endowment for research in and study of leukemia" and "to affiliate with other foundations ... established to do work similar, related or auxiliary to its or their program objects." Organizers and trustees with Mr. Krumholtz are other men who have lost a relative from the disease.

Tables were decorated with low bowls of red and white gladioli, white and red candles and centered on each of the three tables set in U shape was a clustered grouping of a variety of fruits and vegetables. Place favors were small cornucopias fashioned of paper lace doilies tied with red ribbon and filled with candies in fruit and flower shapes.

On the committee with Miss Leib were Mrs. Florence Detwiler, Mrs. Ferne Faux and Mrs. Mary K. Hollinger. Mrs. Detwiler read the club collect preceding dinner. Introduced as new members were Miss Anita Fabian, Miss Betty Steinman and Miss Dorothy Buch.

Special music was by Miss Barbara McDonald, who sang, accompanied by Miss Wanda McMahan. Announcement was made by Miss Mary K. Miley of a business meeting of the club to be held Sept. 17.

EVANGELIST — Rev. Jack Donovan, Frankfort, Ind., evangelist will open special meeting at Second Pilgrim Holiness church Sunday morning, Rev. Albert M. Hood, pastor, announced. At one time on the stage, and known as a pugilist before his entrance into the ministry, he has been in gospel work some time and has traveled extensively throughout this country as a preacher. On previous occasions he held meetings here. Assisting will be Misses Velma, Rozella and Lucille Moore, sisters from Crooksville who will be the singers and musicians for the meeting. Services will be held each night at 7:45 through Sunday, Sept. 14.

Annual Inspection Is Held by Grange

Annual inspection of Montgomery Grange was conducted by E. A. Williams, deputy master, at a meeting Tuesday night in the grange hall. Mrs. Williams, deputy matron, was in charge of the inspection of the Juvenile Grange. Cletus Uhl master, presided.

One application for membership was received and an announcement was made of the Marion County Pomona Grange meeting to be held Saturday night, Sept. 6, at Montgomery Grange hall.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Gertrude Granger, lecturer, was composed of the following numbers: song by the group, an agricultural talk on the subject "The Weather," by LeRoy Anderson; a report on the activities of the home economics committee for the year by Mrs. Clifton Wenig, chairman; two piano duets, "Baa, Baa Black Sheep" and "Little Jack Horner," by Anita and Mary Jane Coon, members of juvenile grange; vocal solo, "Tallahassee," by Miss Doris Miller, accompanied by Mrs. Helen Cookston, piano solo, "Loves Old Sweet Song" by Miss Jane Granger, an educational talk on Ohio by Lowell Cates; two numbers, "Kentucky Babe" and "The Old Spinning Wheel," by a quartet composed of Carol Harriman, Betty Uhl, Ruth Granger and Jane Weston, accompanied by Mrs. M. C. Kennedy, and the history of the Montgomery Grange, prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thibaut and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Anderson, read by Mrs. Mary Thibaut. Group singing closed the program.

4-H Club Members To Attend Congress

The four chosen are Charles Heimlich of Waldo, Beulah Murphy of Meeker, Mary Ellen Hinsmon of Kirkpatrick, Margaret Johnson of New Bloomington and Loren Fulton of Claridon.

The congress will be held from Monday through Friday of next week and will include tours of Columbus industries, open discussions on various club activities, a forum on possible improvements and recreational events. They will also meet the university swimming team and watch the Ohio State football practice. A banquet at the Southern Hotel Thursday evening will be one of the highlights of the congress.

Loren Fulton is being sent under the sponsorship of the Ohio Public Service Co. as a reward for his winning entry in a recent contest in which he gave the best outline for the use of electricity. Expenses of the other four are again being shared by the Kiwanis club who have sponsored the delegates for the past few years.

TRUMAN MESSAGE SENT TO V.F.W. MEET

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5.—President Truman yesterday sent the following message to National Commander Louis E. Starr of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which is holding its 48th national encampment here:

"It gives me much pleasure to send cordial greetings and warm good wishes to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States at the 48th national encampment. I regret that other commitments will give me no opportunity to visit you personally.

"This is a time for sober thought and courageous action if we are to meet successfully the difficult problems which face us at home and abroad. We have seen our wartime victory undermined by the inability of nations to reach agreement. We have learned that there is still much to be done in maintaining the strength and prosperity of our own country.

"No group of citizens is more actively concerned with the well-being of our nation than are its veterans. No group is better able to provide vigorous and thoughtful leadership in achieving our national aims. It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.
If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves, if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Complete Plans For Federation Picnic Tuesday

FINAL plans for the annual picnic to be held by the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs Tuesday evening at the Federation Home, were made at a meeting of the general committee Wednesday afternoon at the Federation Home.

A program of entertainment has been arranged and there will be an auction of baked food contributed by the various clubs. The popularity of the fortune telling booth last year prompted the committee to arrange for more than one this year and in addition to this entertainment several motion pictures will be shown.

Festivities including the picnic supper will begin at 5.30 o'clock and continue throughout the evening. While reservation deadline is Monday the committee states that should anyone find they can attend or have additional guests, they are to feel free to come without reservations. The reservations are being made to ascertain the approximate number expected, the committee states. The outing this year, as formerly is for club members, their husbands, patrons and patronesses and friends.

Should the weather prove unfavorable for holding the picnic on the Federation Home lawn the festivities will be moved to the shelter house at Garfield Park.

Mrs Rayl B Conyers is general chairman of the committee and the assistant is Miss Mary Katherine Smith.

Her veil of imported English illusion was held in place with a coronet of lace and pearls. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid and showered with ribbon streamers to which were tied rosebuds.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Jack Kreakbaum of Marysville, and bridesmaids were Misses Naomi and Eileen Wilson of Marysville, sisters of the bride, and Miss Rose Marie Nye of Indianapolis, Ind. Miss Ann Yarrington of Marysville was the flower girl.

HIT-SKIP TRUCK KNOCKS OUT LIGHTS

O.P.S. Pole Broken Between Delaware and Stratford.

A hit-skip truck turned off the lights for much of the southern half of Delaware county at 4:30 a. m. today, according to an Associated Press report from Delaware.

Ohio Public Service Co. officials in Marion reported that the truck hit a pole supporting feeder wires on route 23, between Delaware and Stratford.

Service was affected almost as far south as Worthington. Farmers depending on electric milking machines had to care for their cows by old-fashioned hand methods and homes using electricity for cooking served cold and coffeeless breakfasts.

Line crews were sent from Delaware immediately to replace the broken pole and service was completely restored by 9:25 a. m.

Details of the accident and the name of the driver are not known.

TRUMAN

Mr. Truman traced Brazil's history from her declaration of independence on Sept. 7, 1822, to the present. He recalled that the United States was the first nation to recognize the new independent state of Brazil. He said he was happy also that it was to the United States that Brazil turned for support in its struggle for freedom.

"The alliance which Brazil proposed to us was a singular mark of confidence," he said. "It was the beginning of our historical friendship which I have described as 'life long'."

Mr. Truman stayed indoors at the U. S. embassy residence until midafternoon yesterday, his plans for mountain climbing and orchid hunting thwarted by a dismal rain.

He, Mrs. Truman and their daughter drove to their new quarters at Larangjeiras palace, the Brazilian residence for distinguished visitors.

Last night the Trumans and Ambassador and Mrs. William D. Pawley dined with President and Mrs. Eurico Gaspar Dutra at Catete Palace.

Gandhi Says Next Fast "Will Be Unto Death"

By The Associated Press

CALCUTTA, India, Sept. 5 — Mohandas K. Gandhi has warned the warring communal factions in India and Pakistan his next fast will "be unto death."

He ended a 73-hour fast last night, started in protest against an outburst of Moslem-Hindu violence in Calcutta, amid indications that comparative quiet was prevailing in most sections of the two new dominions, except in the partitioned Punjab.

Gandhi, regarded virtually as a saint by Hindus, broke his fast with a glass of sweet lime juice after a long conference with Chakravarthi Rajagopalachari, governor general, and P. C. Ghosh, premier of west Bengal, J. A. Kripalani, Congress party president, and H. S. Suhrawardy, former Moslem premier of Bengal, with whom Gandhi is living as a demonstration of Moslem-Hindu amity.

PULLMAN HIKES RATE FOR SLEEPING CARS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 — The Pullman company announced last night plans to hike sleeping car service rates 1 to 48.9 per cent on Oct. 1 by special permission of the Interstate commerce commission.

The company estimated in its petition to the ICC that the increases will bring in an additional $13,000,000 a year, which it said is needed to meet higher operating costs.

In granting the rate revision without a hearing, the ICC stipulated that any affected person or group could ask suspension of the order and a formal inquiry into the increases.

Pullman plans to set up a minimum lower berth rate of $3.50 instead of the present rates of $2.34, $2.65 and $2.97 for short overnight trips in various parts of the country. On the $2.35 rate, this will be a 48.9 per cent increase.

Other changes will range down to 1 per cent on a $17.35 standard lower berth rate. On rates of $17.70 or more, there will be no increase.

Solon Says "Let English Sell Securities for Gold"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5—Rep Sabath (D-Ill) said today if the British need gold their "lords and financiers" should sell "the billions of dollars worth of gilt-edge securities they still hold in the United States."

The 81-year-old dean of the house said the British also might "dispose of some of the interests they have in the German cartel industries."

Sabath described suggestions for a special session of congress to deal with the developing European economic crisis as "the outcome of the plans of the propagandists for the British and Wall Street cartelists."

He told a newsman a proposal by British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin that the United States divide its gold stocks with European nations was "a part of that propaganda chorus."

PRESSURE EASES BUT STOCKS STILL SINK

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 5—Stock market leaders generally extended the downward move today although Thursday's pressure was lacking.

Slowdowns were frequent after a fairly active opening.

Offerings again were based mainly on pessimism over international economic affairs which possibly may threaten the domestic business picture.

On the offside most of the day were Bethlehem, Woodward Iron, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, American Telephone, American Smelting, Kennecott, Dow Chemical, Monsanto Chemical, Bristol-Myers, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, U. S. Gypsum, Standard Oil (NJ), Santa Fe, Great Northern Railway and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Universal Leaf Tobacco pushed up on a proposed 300 per cent stock dividend.

Ahead at intervals were Goodrich, Goodyear, International Harvester, United Aircraft, Boeing and Douglas Aircraft.

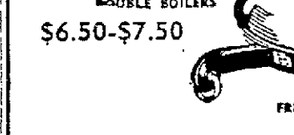

Boston is nearer to both European and South America ports than any other U. S. shipping center.

U. S. School System Facing Biggest Job in Its History

By The Associated Press

Already bursting at its seams, the U. S. school system will have a bigger job this fall than ever before in its history.

Educators cite these factors ... expand the school load:

1. A bulge in the American birth rate that started in 1941 will put increasing numbers of children in primary grades.

2. Veterans will continue to use government benefits to remain in the classroom.

3. Appreciation of the benefits of education has been stimulated in Americans until there is ... numbers of people are making strenuous efforts to continue their education.

Handicaps Cited

The increasing enrollment ... the schools' handicapped. Among difficulties troubling the educators are:

1. Salary scales which have become too low because of sharp increases in living costs.

2. Sharp reductions in the number of people taking ... teaching just at the time when more teachers are needed.

3. Deterioration of school buildings ... to seem ... at the time when the need is greatest.

5. Shortages of building materials.

6. Shortages of books.

Growth Predicted

The pinch will increase this fall, but is expected to continue for at least six years. Dr. John W. Studebaker, U. S. commissioner of education, estimates that in those six years there will be about six million additional elementary school pupils in the country, about a million more in secondary schools and half a million more students in colleges.

The drive to meet the emergency situation has long since started throughout the country. At least 44 state legislatures have made major adjustments in school laws. Many communities have adjusted teacher pay with or without state aid in an effort to hold teachers already in the system and attract others.

Money Provided

Nearly all states made some provision for school financing. Delaware, Indiana and Nebraska provided state funds for school building.

A proposal to stagger the traditional three-months vacations so that the schools can operate the year around has been widely discussed.

But educators do not pretend that measures so far adopted will meet the emergency fully.

Dr. Studebaker says the emergency ... "heroic action." But he insists that the country can meet its educational needs on the same scale that it met its war needs so that every child can be given a first rate education.

CUBS REVIVE TO TRIP UP MUNCIE, 13-11

Bruins Blast Ace Hurler To Nip Packer Win Streak at 7 Games

Special to The Star

MUNCIE, Sept. 5 — Marion outslugged Muncie, 13-11, here last night to end a Packer win streak which had extended to seven games. The teams close their four-game series here tonight.

The Cubs wasted little time with preliminaries, jumping on Muncie's ace hurler, Eddie Post, for six runs in the first inning and driving him out.

They continued their assault against three other Packer fingers but needed all of their runs as the home team made a determined comeback in late innings.

Led by 9-1

Marion led in the third, 9-1, but Tom Florence's third home run of the season, coming with Howard Locke on base, made it, 9-3. In the fourth, the Packers tallied four more runs, partly on loose playing by the Cub infield.

John Graney, starting Marion pitcher, was derricked in the fourth in favor of Frank Smith, who managed to hang around until the bitter end.

With a thunderstorm threatening in the ninth, Muncie made its final bid for victory. Smith, whose control was w o b b l y throughout, walked three Packers to clog the bases with only one down.

Hits Grounder

Locke hit a short grounder to Johnny Smith, at third. With the infield drawn in, Smith was in no position to flag it down and the ball caromed off his shoulder over against the left field screen for a double.

Two runs scored on the hit and other runners were perched on second and third. Frank Smith braced, however, nipping Tom Florence on an infield tap and causing Spike Foster to fly to right field for the final out.

* * *

The Zanesville Dodgers took a 7-5 victory last night over the Springfield Giants.

Tom Sieradski marked up his 11th successive victory, granting only five hits to the Giants. Kenneth Lein, Dodger second baseman, drove in three runs while getting four hits in five times at bat.

Rain at Richmond, Ind., cancelled the Lima-Richmond game. They planned a doubleheader for tonight. Dayton and Newark were idle.

250 SEASON TICKETS SOLD BY HARDING

Approximately 100 Issued at Stadium Rally.

The number of season ticket books sold for Harding home football games was placed at 250 this morning by James A. Smith, Harding financial director.

Approximately 100 of these were sold at Harding stadium Wednesday night when the Harding Athletic association and the Marion Booster's club launched a drive to sell the books.

The reserved seat books can be obtained at the high school and cost $5 a season for adults and $2.75 a season for students.

A crowd estimated at 2,000 persons attended Wednesday night's rally.

O.S.U. QUARTERBACKS TURN OUT FOUR DEEP

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5 — Coach Wesley Fesler had quarterbacks four deep today for the third day of Ohio State university football practice, and he looked with some optimism toward the kicking department.

Fesler indicated the switch of Pete Perini of Washington, N. J., from fullback to quarter would work out all right and said:

"In Dick Slager, Billy Doolittle, Pandel Savic and Perini, we have four boys big enough to block and active enough to handle our T-formation.

"Right now Pete is just going through the motions slowly, but he could be ready for the opener with Missouri."

Fesler mentioned end Fred (Curly) Morrison of Columbus as a kicking prospect and indicated he would be with the squad as a punter if not a regular end.

"Curly kicks them 70 yards, and when he misses, they still go 50," Fesler observed.

Slager, former Columbus West player, holds the edge in the quarter spot because of his passing ability, but Fesler has plans to work Bob Brugge of Parma, O., and Dean Sensanbaugher of Uhrichsville, O., in the pass department in preparation for the Sept. 27 Missouri game.

Team physician Dr. Richard Patton looked at Jerry Krall's knee which was recently operated upon, and was of the opinion the Toledo letterman could be ready by the start of the season.

Sophomore center Dick Phillips of Berea became the first casualty with a strained knee ligament which will keep him out of practice for a few days.

Ex-Enemy Lineman, Howard Thomas, Now Coaches Harding Forward Wall

The name of Howard Thomas, newly-appointed Marion Harding High line coach, probably will strike a responsive note in the memories of those local football enthusiasts who have kept close tab on the Presidents' opponents over the years.

Slightly over a decade ago, Thomas was playing right guard for the Mt. Vernon High football team in the now defunct North Central Ohio conference. He held that position regularly during the 1936 and 1937 seasons and both years played against Harding, also a member of the N.C.O.

Head coach at Mt. Vernon at that time was Paul Snyder, who was later named coach at Mansfield High school.

In addition to playing guard on the grid squad, Thomas ran the quarter mile for the Mt. Vernon track team. He received his high school diploma in 1937.

Attended Denison

Thomas' athletic activities were continued through his college days, which were spent at Denison university in Granville. Before graduating from Denison in 1941, Thomas managed to get in three years of varsity football at a guard position, and considerable service in baseball and track. He caught for the Denison nine and again was a runner on the track team.

Thomas held three different coaching positions before being named to the Harding post this summer. He was appointed basketball coach at Byesville shortly after graduation from college. From there he went to Shadyside to serve as head football and basketball coach during the 1942-43 school year.

HOWARD THOMAS

Thomas' most successful year was 1942 when his Ashtabula Harbor High footballers turned in an undefeated record and won the championship of the Lakeshore Athletic league. The following year both his Ashtabula Harbor basketball and track teams placed second in the league.

Thomas' coaching career was interrupted temporarily in the spring of 1945 when he entered the Army. Most of his service time was in Florence, Italy, where he served as a supply sergeant. Thomas was discharged last fall.

Enrolled at O. S. U.

This past summer, Thomas enrolled in Ohio State university to start work on his master's degree in physical education. He was credited with 15 hours toward this degree during the summer quarter.

Thomas, who lives with his wife at 206½ Gurley avenue, will teach health and biology at Harding this year.

As for the new Football Betterment Program for Marion schools, Thomas has this to say: "I'm naturally not too well acquainted with the situation around here but I would say that everything is off to a good start with this new program. From what I have seen, I really like the set-up around here."

BROWNS' GRID WARS TO START TONIGHT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5 — Two of the game's best forward passers and masters of the T formation will quarterback against each other tonight in Cleveland Stadium when the Cleveland Browns open defense of their All-America football conference championship against the Buffalo Bills.

Blond George Ratterman, onetime Notre Dame ace and field marshal for the visitors from Buffalo is expected to provide the conference's major threat to the passing records of Cleveland's quarterback, Otto Graham, the league's best last season.

Pre-game estimates are that the contest will draw about 60,000 fans.

Because an eye infection has been troubling Lou Rymkus, all-league tackle and a stand-out on the Browns' line, Leonard Simonetti, 245-pound New Philadelphia, O., player, will start at right tackle for Cleveland, sharing the job with Lou (The Toe) Groza, normally used only for booting points.

Brooklyn Defeats Giants, 2-0 To Increase Lead Over Cards

By The Associated Press

Little Vic Lombardi, the fellow who couldn't win a ball game in early season, is the most consistent Dodger pitcher of the moment—especially when the Giants are around.

Since the All-Star game, Lombardi has copped nine and dropped but two, including a pair of wins over the St. Louis Cardinals. He has a five-game string working as he guns for a starting assignment in the World Series—if the Brooks get there.

Lombardi's latest effort, a five-hit, 2-0 job on the New York club last night in the Polo grounds before 49,203 customers, has given Dodger s e r i e s hopes another boost. As of the moment they are 6½ games in front of the Cards, who were rained out in Chicago.

Andy Hansen, the Giants' latest pitching hope, p i t c h e d good enough to win in most cases but once again he went down in defeat. Jackie Robinson's first-inning double, a single by Pete Reiser and a force play gave Brooklyn its first run. Pee Wee Reese, back in the lineup, homered in the seventh.

St. Louis' rained out game in Chicago was rescheduled for Sept. 26, originally an open date for both clubs.

Boston drove toward second place, outslugging the Phillies, 6-5, after spotting them five runs in the first three innings.

Another big inning by Cincinnati helped sink Pittsburgh a little deeper in the National league cellar via a 7-5 setback. The Reds scored six times in the third inning, driving loser Mel Queen from the hill.

Bill Johnson's error contributed to the Washington Senators' 5-4 night game edge over the New York Yankees. Johnson bobbled Ed Yost's pop fly in the seventh. Buddy Lewis sacrificed Yost to second and Stan Spence's single to center scored Yost with the tie-breaking run. Joe Page suffered his seventh loss.

Jeff Heath and pitcher Fred Sanford were the whole story in St. Louis' 2-1 edge over Detroit. Heath hit his 25th homer after Johnny Berardino walked in the first inning. Sanford gave only five singles.

Chicago came up with two in the tenth to top Cleveland, 4-2.

Schlairet To Wind Up Play at Lorain Sunday

The Schlairet Transfer baseball team will end its season against Thew Shovel at Longfellow park in Lorain Sunday. Members of the team will meet at 214 Gurley avenue at 9 a. m. Sunday. A picnic is planned on the way up.

Tuesday m e m b e r's of the Schlairet baseball and softball teams will be guests of the Schlairet Transfer Co. at a party in the new terminal on Lincoln avenue.

From 1887 until 1946 Notre Dame football teams won 360 games, lost 77 and tied 29.

Angels Face Big Grid Test In Opening Contest Sunday

Marion's semi-pro football will make its first start of the 1947 season at Mt. Gilead Sunday against the Hilltop Athletic club of Columbus.

The team, carrying the banner of the Safety Cab Angels this year, is in its second year of operation. It is composed of players from Marion and surrounding towns. Most of them have had high school experience, although several of the outstanding performers did not play in high school.

Next Saturday they will be on home soil against the Worthington semi-pro outfit. The game will start at 8:15 p. m. at Harding stadium.

Fetter Is Coach Again

Coach of the team again this year is Eugene F. Fetter, who also handles the reins of the St. Mary grid squad. Martin Lewis, who was to assist as line coach, has forsaken the sidelines to play guard and captain the squad.

Fetter believes that he will be able to present a good ball club to the fans this season. He has been able to build around players seasoned to the sport last year, and several new players, unquestionably outstanding in their high school days, have reported to the squad.

He believes that Sunday's opponent will be a rugged customer. Fetter has looked over the opposition's lineup and noticed that many of the players have had college experience.

Sees Victory

Fetter, however, explains that players with college experience are not uncommon in semi-pro football, and he believes that his team will be able to cope with them.

The following boys, will, according to Fetter, be called on for most of the front line duty:

Willard Benson, center last year, and King Keller, All-Ohio center for Harding in 1939, Charles Lust, a guard at Harding in his undergraduate days, Gerry Obenour, who did not play in high school, and Martin Lewis, guard.

At the tackle posts the Angels will have Bill Fate, former Harding player, Owen Creasap, Harding captain in 1938, and Bob Dull, one of last year's stalwarts with the Angels. Creasap was an end in high school, but has been shifted to tackle.

Three ex-Harding players will be on the ends. They are Jim Gilmore, Howard Richardson and Herb Phillians. Max Roseberry, who did not play high school football, will also be an end.

Ex-Irish Quarterback

Ed Simmons, formerly of St. Mary, will be at quarterback as will Don Reams, former Kenton star. Speedster Bob Ivey and Leo Belknap are left halfbacks. Ivey did not play high school ball. Belknap played at Harding.

Howard Hodges, ex-Harding player, also highly regarded as a welterweight boxer, and John Stine are right half candidates.

Bill Scott, another boy who didn't play high school ball, and Fred Ruhl, who was kept out of action at Harding by injuries most of the time, will work at fullback.

Jim Stull is the team manager and Walter Anderson is the trainer. Both are from St. Mary.

Irish Eleven To Scrimmage Against O. N. U. Tomorrow

St. Mary gridders will get a workout against husky opposition tomorrow morning.

As part of their pre-season training the squad will scrimmage against the Ohio Northern team at Ada at 10 a. m.

Of necessity the scrimmage will have to be mild, as the college team should have it over the locals in ruggedness and experience.

It should serve to help the Irish become seasoned for their opening game against Delaware Willis there a week from Friday.

Lineup Complete Again

St. Mary was hampered by the injury of two of its regular players in early practices this summer, but both boys, Joe Maniaci and Dick Werley, are back on the ready list.

The team has been working out twice a week since practice sessions started Aug. 20. They are concentrating on the T formation and various defensive setups.

To Use '46 Backs

The starting lineup will have the services of a backfield that is almost an exact reproduction of last year's. Dick Schuler will again be running at quarterback, Bob Stuber and Ed Murphy will be at the halves, and John Baldauf will again be at fullback. Both Stuber and Murphy are scat backs. Stuber being a quick starter and Murphy a good broken field man. Schuler's specialty is shifty hips, while Baldauf is a power runner.

On the line Tom Wagner and Jim Moloney will be at the [illegible]. Both are lettermen. Dick [illegible]ley, a letterman, will be at [illegible] of the tackle posts and Gene [illegible]per will be at the other. [illegible] Maniaci, All-Mid-State league guard last season, will again [illegible] in there and Kevin Krigbaum, a letterman, will be at the other guard spot. Dan Smith will again handle center chores.

Several others have a chance of seeing their share of action.

SCHLAIRET, COOLER WIN IN PLAY-OFFS

Playoffs between the four Night league teams tied for second place at the end of scheduled activity started at Crystal Lake park last night with Universal Cooler and Schlairet getting victories.

The Cooler squad K.O.'d Huber, 15-6, and Schlairet took Marion Power Shovel, 6-3.

Purpose of this playoff is to get a second, third and fourth place winner for the coming league championship playoffs. Smitty's Grill copped undisputed possession of first place in regular season's play.

Monday the playoffs will be wound up with either Huber or Power Shovel getting eliminated. A Cooler-Schlairet game to decide the second and third positions will follow the opening game. Drawings for the championship playoffs, which will start Wednesday night, will be held after the first game.

HIGH PRICES STYMIE SCHOOL BUS BUYING

By The Associated Press

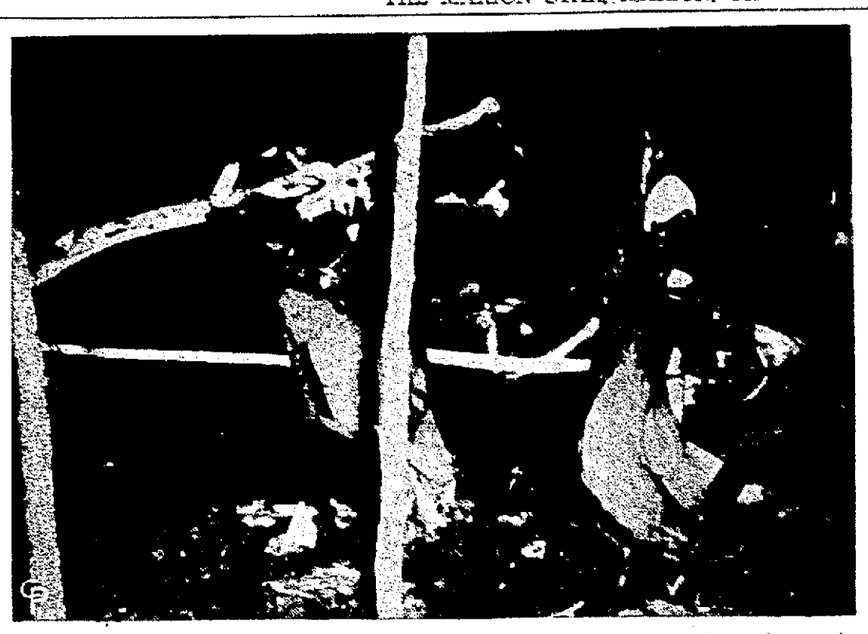

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5—High prices are preventing Ohio school boards from ordering 500 needed school buses, a state official declared today.

Earl G. Welshimer, supervisor of school bus transportation, reported to Dr. Clyde Hissong, state director of education, that the 1,593 school districts in the state needed at least 1,100 buses.

Six hundred have been ordered, he said, but the boards and operators are holding back on the others because of the prices, ranging between $3,500 and $4,800 for 48-passenger buses and between $4,500 and $7,500 for larger ones.

"This is a price jump of 25 per cent within the past two years," he wrote, "and more than 50 per cent when compared with prewar prices."

Dr. Hissong predicted that close to 2,000 buses would be found to be unsatisfactory in the annual fall inspection by the state highway patrol. Last year 987 received this rating because of operational defects.

Survivor Tells Story of Crash

that the town over east of here?

"I remember the bottom dropped out—and then dropped out again, twice.

"It was the weather.

Had Confidence In Pilot

"The pilot (William Stroop, 22, of Dayton) could handle a plane well, I knew him and he could handle anything.

"And it wasn't the plane's fault.

"I came to 12 or 15 times, I just don't remember.

"I knew where I was and what had happened, but I was kept so busy trying to keep the flies off and trying to move the body from me, and then I'd go back to sleep.

"The last time I woke up, I tried to move the woman off my chest, and the flies were so bad I could hardly stand them.

"I thought I had better look for a farmhouse.

"I went to that farmhouse because there was laundry hanging out and I thought it was the only one with people at home I thought it was Labor day.

"I don't know what I thought the first time I woke up. The flies were bad.

"I could see the woods from the plane."

"They were shooting off fireworks when we were over Marion, that's how we knew we were there. I don't know how we got back here unless the wind and storm carried us.

Radio Went Out

"Our radio was no good, but two or three people reported having heard our signals.

"It was not at all like being shot down. This was just nothing."

Physicians said his condition was improved today.

Killed in the crash Stroop, 22, Mrs. Raymond Stotts, and Miss Mariel Talbot, 20, all of Dayton.

The plane crashed into tall trees on the Carl Bidwell farm. The wings and tail assembly were torn off and the fuselage was found lodged against several trees. One wing remained suspended on trees and visible from the air.

Location of the crashed aircraft was unknown until Gorman freed himself from the wreckage and made his way to the farmhouse of Walter Getz, Wednesday afternoon.

The Carl Bidwell farm, of northeast of here, was the scene of bustling activity yesterday and today as hundreds of curious sightseers, reporters and C.A.A. officials visited the scene.

The adjoining fields became landing fields for the authorities and curious people who flew in.

Stream of Curious

A continuous stream of onlookers trekked back through the muddy bean field to the thick woods to get a look at the plane.

The bodies of the three dead were removed to the Porter-Hull Funeral Home in Kenton and were then taken to Dayton early yesterday morning.

Marjorie, pretty young wife of the lone survivor, and her mother, Mrs. Jay Craven of Dayton, are keeping a steady vigil at Gorman's bedside.

The accident happened during one of the worst electrical storms ever seen in this part of the country, as the plane was enroute home to Dayton from the Cleveland air races.

Believe Fireworks Seen by Gorman Were in Galion

Although the Kenton death plane is believed to have circled over Marion for a time before finally crashing in a woods near Kenton, it is considered probable here that Charles Gorman, lone survivor, had this city confused with Galion in his statement to newsmen about the fireworks display.

Marion had no fireworks display that night, but at Galion an elaborate display at the Heise park athletic field climaxed a Labor Day celebration.

The Galion display, scheduled for 8 p. m. was advanced to 7:45 p. m. because of a threatening storm.

Shortly after the exhibit started a plane, flying low, passed directly over the field and continued west. The plane was reported to be so low that many persons in the stands feared rockets, exploding at the time, would hit it.

The storm continued to grow in intensity and for a time lightning flashes vied with exploding fireworks for attention of the crowd.

As the plane continued westward it apparently flew into the center of the storm, said to be one of the worst to hit the Hardin county area in many years.

Observers considered it probable that the plane seen over Galion later circled over Marion and then flew westward to the spot where it crashed.

New Auto Sales 32 Here in Week

A total of 32 automobiles and five trucks were sold in Marion during the week ending Sept. 2, according to records in the office of Calvin Oborn, clerk of courts. The week previous, 29 cars and nine trucks were sold while three weeks ago, 17 autos and six trucks were sold.

Council of Religious Education To Meet

The tri-township Council of Religious Education of Mifflin, Jackson and Marseilles townships, will be held Sunday, Sept. 7, at the Marseilles Methodist church in Marseilles. The afternoon session will get underway at 2 o'clock, and the evening session is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Walter Collins will deliver the address in the afternoon, and songs will be by the congregation. The address in the evening will be by Judge Russell H. Kear.

APPOINTED BY HERBERT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5—Miss Gertrude Jones, Findlay Republican, was reappointed to a four-year term on the two-member state civil service commission yesterday by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert. Carl Smith, Kenton Democrat, is the other member.

Slow-Moving Poorer Meat Cuts Called Bar To Price Drop

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 — F. W. Specht, president of Armour and Co., said yesterday that prices of choice meat cuts could be reduced if the public purchased more of the packing industry's low-priced products.

The meat packing company executive, in an address prepared for the 42nd annual meeting of the American Meat Institute, said "almost every product we make has been in the surplus class at one time or another."

He said the industry always had certain kinds and cuts of meat to sell which had to be marketed at a loss, and added:

"If the consumer could be induced, through better merchandising, to use a little more of these low-priced products, which are just as high in nutrition, it would relieve the pressure on the so-called higher-priced products and thereby bring them into line with average values.

"From that standpoint I think we can truthfully say that low prices cause high prices, and, of course, low prices discourage livestock production.

"Shoulder cuts of hog, for example, constitute about 25 per cent of the meat yield of the hog. It has usually been far more difficult to get a fair price for these shoulder cuts than for the hams, the loins, and the bacon."

Water Co. To Build New Brick Smokestack at Pumping Station

L. Otis Porter, manager of the Marion Water company announced today that construction of a 100-foot chimney to replace the present steel stack is under way as part of the company post-war improvement program at the water plant west of Marion.

The new radial red brick chimney will have a five foot diameter and is being erected by the Rust Engineering company of Pittsburgh. The chimney will serve the company's three steam boilers at the pumping station. Fondation for the stack was built recently by company workmen. Slob and Bierce of Marion will make all connections from the boilers to the new stack and will remove the existing steel stack.

Erection of the new chimney is one of several major plant improvements the company has made since the close of the war to keep pace with city growth and afford necessary protection, Mr. Porter stated.

These improvements include installation of three new well pumps, overhauling and increasing the capacity of the large steam pumps by approximately a million gallons gaily, a new six-inch steam line from boilers to pumps to provide duplication of steam facilities, a new combination settling and filtering tank, new slakers at the softening plant and erection of a new elevated tank on Gurley avenue to replace the old standpipe.

In addition since the war approximately 15 miles of new mains have been laid with two miles completed so far this year with a balance of five more to be laid before cold weather, Mr. Porter said.

The public is cordially invited to inspect the company facilities at any time Mr. Porter added, now that security restrictions that prevented the waterworks from being open to the public during war time have been lifted.

Marion Glads Win State Fair Prizes

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Hemmerly of 229 East Fairground street were awarded 6 of the 10 possible prizes for their gladioli exhibit at the Ohio State fair last week in Columbus.

Topping the awards was first prize for a salmon pink Picardy and second prize for a lavender colored Minuet. The other awards included third prize for a white blossom, and three fourth prizes for scarlet, light pink and yellow blossoms.

The Hemmerlys, assisted by two daughters, Mrs. Trella Haldeman and Miss Mary Hemmerly have been raising gladioli for the past 10 years and have been selling them on the market for the last eight years.

At the state fair, the entries were chosen direct from the regular garden from which the flowers are sold. They were not grown especially for show purposes. All prizes were awarded for quality and color of the various classes.

The watermelon has been cultivated since ancient times.

Columbus Woman Sets New Marion Golf Course Record

The record in women's golf was broken at the Marion Country club when Mrs. Robert Palmer of Columbus played the course in 74 in the invitational golf meeting at which Marion clubwomen were hostesses yesterday. The record formerly was held by Mrs. William Margraff of Columbus, who played the course in 84. Par for the course in women's golf is 81.

Mrs. Palmer, whose score of 74 is two over the men's par at the club course, won the Franklin county championship this season, defeating Mrs. Margraff. Prior to going to Columbus Mrs. Palmer lived in Rhode Island where she was winner of the state championship five times. Her low score was attributed to accuracy.

Guests yesterday were from the Scioto, Brookside and York Country clubs of Columbus and the the Mound Builders club of Newark.

Mrs. Palmer with her score of 74 was low in the field and Miss Bonnie Randolph of the York Country club was second with a score of 83. Other championship flight scores were: Miss Randolph, first low gross, Mrs. E. K. Haddon, second low gross and Mrs. Paul Ries, third low gross. Both Mrs. Haddon and Mrs. Ries are members of the York club.

Low net scorers were Mrs. Howard R. Stoll, first, Mrs. Robert C. Owens, second and Mrs. P. A. Frazier, third.

In the A flight Mrs. E. H. Siler of the York club was first, Mrs. A. W. Kurz, Brookside club second and Mrs. John Dugan of Marion third. Low net winners were Miss Ann Mapes first, Mrs. George A. Howser, second and Mrs. C. O. Brown, third.

First low gross winner in the B flight was Mrs. W. A. Dennis, second Mrs. Margaret Stapleford of the York club and third Mrs. Frederick T. Merchant. Low net winners were Mrs. Paul Palmer of the Columbus Country club, Mrs. B. H. Buettin, second and Mrs. D. E. Hilliards of the York club. In the C flight Mrs. William Young of the Scioto club won first low gross, Mrs. Millard Hunt, second and Mrs. Ray Stockdale of the Columbus Scioto club, third. Mrs. L. L. Icenbower of the York club won first low net, Mrs. Ann Tate of the Columbus Country club was second and Mrs. Irvin Gaylord of the Scioto club was third. The best nine in the C flight was made by Mrs. R. C. Irvin of the Mound Builders club.

In a putting contest the winners were Miss Emma O'Brien, Mrs. J. B. Bray, Mrs. James Barker of Marion, Mrs. Carl Craig of the Brookside club and Mrs. C. R. ALL MEAT, NO BONES IS "IKE'S" WAR FOOD "BEEF"

General Tells Packers He Missed Chance to Gnaw Bones.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 5—General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, has told the nation's leading meat packers that he and every World War II GI had a gripe about their wartime products—their meat had no bones.

"I got so eternally tired of just good solid meats with no bones," the general, smiling, told the packers attending the American Meat Institute banquet last night. "No bones at all. No bones for vegetable soup."

After the packers vigorously applauded his "complaint," Eisenhower related how a cow was given to his personal headquarters at about the time of the Battle of the Bulge. She presented him with a calf.

"Instantly a meat packing company was organized in competition with the meat organizations of the U. S." the general said.

The calf was slaughtered at the proper time and the meat went to members of his staff, "but anything with a bone in it belonged to me. Then the meat company was dissolved."

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

KATHARINE and I kept our faces "strictly poker," as Mary made her comment upon Olina and Georges.

We both knew she was right in her appraisal of the mistake the former Princess of Transvania was making in her estimate of her suitor's attitude toward her self-sacrificing devotion. But we also knew that anything concerning Georges should be diverted as far as possible from Mary's thoughts, not only on account of Noel's jealousy, but because of the heady knowledge she possessed of the royal playboy's romantic interest in her.

Time for a Rest

"She'll come out from under the ether in time," Katharine said dryly. "Now suppose you come into the bedroom for a rest before luncheon, which we'll order early. Then, if you continue to make the grade as you have, you may get at your lines under your aunt's direction immediately after you've eaten."

"How long may I study?" Mary demanded.

"That depends entirely upon your reactions," Katharine answered placidly. "From your appearance now, I should say most of the afternoon."

"Oh, joy! Oh, rapture!" Mary intoned, rising and pirouetting around the room.

"But, darling Auntie Madge," she said, coming to a halt with arms akimbo, "as you love me, please order a very light luncheon for me or I'll be falling asleep."

"Your point is well taken," I told her smiling. "Suppose we say a glass of iced apple juice, a poached egg on one piece of toast, a pot of tea, and a small dish of strawberries or ice cream."

"You and your ideas of a light luncheon!" Mary gibed, laughing. "But I'll agree to everything except the dessert. I'll have seconds of everything tonight, I promise you."

"Very well," I agreed. "I'll follow your wishes closely. Katharine will you tell me when to order luncheon? Remember, Room Service takes twenty minutes, sometimes."

Plenty of Warning

"I'll give you plenty of warning," Katharine said. "Come, Mary! I want to tuck you in. That's all I hear these days."

Mary said, with a hint of rebellion in her voice, but she followed Katharine docilely into the bedroom.

When my kinswoman came back to me, she was smiling.

"Our girl isn't as rugged as she thinks she is," she said. "I gave her a rubdown and tucked her in, and she was sound asleep inside of three minutes."

I looked at her in quick alarm.

"Does that mean that she isn't going to be equal to the strenuous program she has mapped out for herself?" I asked.

"She will be in, say, a week or two." Katharine answered. "But until she is her old self again, we shall have to ride herd on her. Yes, I know," she added, as she saw my tell-tale face. "It isn't going to be easy for us to be cowboys, but there's no help for it. If we give her her head completely, she'll be back in bed before we know it."

"But," I said, puzzled, "you have told her that she may go back to her apartment, and see her in-laws when she chooses. 'Issue your own invitations,' was, I believe, what you said."

"So I did," Katharine returned. "But those things hold no particular danger for Mary. The thing that is going to get her is this studying of her lines. Luckily, you haven't too many ready for her, have you?"

"No, I haven't," I admitted. "Only those of the first act. But you know Phil's dictum, that the play must be ready for rehearsal in six weeks."

"Okay, okay," she returned, "but is it necessary for Mary to know how much you have written in this next week?"

I swept an imaginary plumed hat toward her.

"As usual, you have come up with a solution," I said.

"Gramercy for the Swiss Chard!" she said, smiling. "And don't worry! I think we'll be able to hold her down for a few days. After that, the sky can be the limit."

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Most Americans will agree with Mr. Bevin that the treasury's gold should be redistributed. We even have ideas on who it should be distributed among. . . Hey fellas?

* * *

We now have three-fifths of the known supply of gold and five-fifths of the people who haven't seen any in years.

* * *

From what I can make out of the news, the common building nail is the new standard of affluency anyway.

* * *

If we had 21 billion pounds of nails salted away instead of 21 billion in nuggets we'd be well off.

* * *

But Mr. Truman should have delivered his tax veto message while standing on top of that ore dump.

* * *

That part about . . . we can't afford to cut your taxes . . . Would have brought tears to the eyes of any man. Particularly any man who remembers when $5 gold pieces were fairly common.
